Notes

The Graveyard Plan was created by annotating a recent photograph (actually a series of photographs merged together – hence a bit of distortion is evident). Obviously with the passage of time many of the graves have become overgrown and inscriptions eroded and so the accuracy of the list of names and dates will inevitably contain some blanks and best guesses. A survey of the graveyard was conducted in the 1990s by the Birmingham and Midlands Society of Genealogy and Heraldry (BMSGH); this has been used to fill in some inscription details which are now unreadable.

[The aerial photograph and markings on the ground suggest that there may be a substantial number of gravestones in the northern section of the graveyard that have been laid flat and are now covered with grass. No attempt has been made to uncover these.]

Grave numbers prefixed by C, i.e. C1 to C17, refer to plaques marking burials of ashes in the south western section of the graveyard.

Numbers in the surname index prefixed with B- refer to an entry number in the burial register (e.g. B-131 relates to burial register entry number 131)

The same burial will occur twice in the surname index if there is both a monument and a burial register entry, e.g. Bessie BELL is buried in grave number 85 and has burial register entry 438, so Bell appears in the surname index as

Bell ..... 85,B-438

No attempt has been made to rationalise the spelling of surnames e.g. there is a monument to Fenimore (grave number 30), but there are also entries in the burial register for Fennemore and Finnimore

This document and the plan is also published on our website at <http://rowingtonrecords.com/Church>

A full version of the plan is published there which can be zoomed to make it easier to read the numbers

Notes to 1887 Plan

The plan on the previous page is taken from a drawing made in 1887 when the graveyard was extended to the North of the church. A layout was drawn up for the Rev Mucklestone and the plots numbered sequentially. These are numbered from 1 to 159. A number of smaller plots were designated for children but unfortunately, and rather confusingly, these were also numbered starting at 1. They are indicated on the plan above using a smaller font and numbered from 1 to 66

Rev Mucklestone seems to have had a ledger to record which burial plots had been used. This was kept separately from the burial register and this ledger is now in the keeping of the Warwick County Records Office. The ledger records which burial plots were used between 1887 when the first burial was made in the new graveyard and 1913 when Rev Mucklestone died. Sadly after this point it appears that there were no records kept of who was buried in which plot, and although we can work out from the burial register that most of the plots must have been used, we cannot tell who was buried where after 1913 unless there still exists a monument to mark the spot.

Burial plots recorded as being used in Rev Mucklestone's ledger are shaded in pale blue and the associated names are listed in a later section of this document

Monuments that are still visible are shown as numbers in red. Most of these are from more modern interments.
